Dear Ally Miller:

I am one of so many who are made sick by the chemical fumes coming off of cigarette. If smokers are smoking outside of buuildings I have to leave & try to come back later which makes life more difficult. If I am in line & a smoker comes up behind me I have to leave because of the residual 2nd hand smoke all over their clothes & hair. I believe I am certainly in the majority that don't want to pay the health price & insurance extra costs forced on us because of people's addictions to cigarettes. Even the EPA had a fact sheet showing that 2nd hand smoke causes cancer & asthma. Can you submit my plea here to the meeting as I shouldn't to go as there will be smokers there protesting & I don't want to be made ill by being in a closed space with them. Let me know. I definitely say there should be a ban on hiring new employees who smoke. The commercial cigarettes have over 30 well known cancer causing chemicals in them as well as also causing asthma. Art galleries never allow smoking as it puts a toxic film on the art work & yellows it & makes it smell foul. Diane Ensign [REDACTED]

I also work with people who are disabled by chemical exposures & it's estimated that 20% of our nations people are affected with MCS (multiple chemical sensitivities) acknowledged by the Americans with Disabilities Act. These people definitely are very adversely affected by cigarette smoke. Will you submit this note to the deciding committee please. Let me know if you can. thank you very much for your service.

I am an American citizen and a medical doctor. I heard over the national news about the county board of Supervisors proposal to ban hiring of Americans who smoke outside the workplace. I think this is a terrible attack on our core American liberties. It is wrong and un-American. Obviously cigarette smoking may cause harm to ones health, but so may hundreds of other things. Who gives an American politician the right to deny a man the right to earn a living because in the privacy of his personal life he decides to take some risk with something that may give him some pleasure? And if you are going to go down this road to tyranny why not select a few more greater risks?

Why not ban from work people who have unprotected sex at home? Why not ban anyone drinking alcohol- a substance regularly implicated in rape, spouse and child abuse, and death in car collisions? Why not deny work to people who are unmarried or who have no close friends or do not attend church- all items when absent are known to lead to decreases in mental, physical and moral health? Why not fire the cheesecake or soufflé eaters and the obese, things which often lead to the harm of diabetes?

Lets drop this Leftist value system of soft tyranny and re-embrace American values where strong men and women are free to live with dignity and run their lives as they see fit.
