We are writing to voice opposition to Monsanto's establishing itself in our Sonoran desert environment and to your support, in any way, of their intentions.

We are The Farm and Food Working Group, a coalition formed 8 years ago in Sells, on the Tohono O'odham Nation. As individuals and organizations from all across the Nation, and Ajo to Tucson, we are committed to culturally relevant, sustainable agriculture, including promoting healthy living and eating.

We are extremely concerned about Monsanto's history and the devastating potential harm to our native and traditional seeds. There are the equally disastrous effects for environmental contamination, neighboring farmers and the desert ecosystems, as well as all living beings who consume or have contact with their products.

We support the local work being done to produce natural and organic food: respect and protect the earth's health from chemical and genetically engineered contamination.

Monsanto has a history of "escaping" seeds, hazardous chemicals and ensuing lawsuits. Damage is irreversible. Money is meaningless compensation.

We urge you to vote NO on Monsanto.
