Re: Position Reports including Recruitment Data

Some questions were raised during the Budget Hearings related to positions, vacancies and recruitment. Pima County uses ADP as the system for managing positions, both filled and vacant, and NeoGov as the system for managing formal recruitment within the County. There are two separate instances of NeoGov use: one within Human Resources that supports the majority of Pima County departments including all the Elected Officials and the second within the Courts system, which includes Superior and Juvenile Court and the Clerk of the Court. Analytics & Data Governance (ADG) receives a nightly, automated feed from both Human Resources' and the Courts' NeoGov instances which is then integrated with position data, both for filled and vacant positions, from ADP.

There are two distinct issues with regards to the Vacancy Reports discussed at the Budget Hearing:

1. The interface from the Courts' instance
2. The recruiting strategy being used by various departments

On February 10, 2022, the automated feed from the Courts' NeoGov instance failed. The download continued to fail over the weekend. The vendor was notified on February 14, 2022, and Pima County (HR, Superior Courts and ADG) have been in contact with the vendor on a weekly basis. The impact of the failure of the automated feed from the NeoGov system has resulted in the inaccuracy of the recruiting information for the Pima County Courts system only. To date, the vendor has not been able to resolve the issue completely. ADG has updated the reports manually to reflect the most current data from the Courts.

The NeoGov system allows Departments to recruit for multiple positions of the same job classification on the same requisition. Many departments have taken advantage of this process and when this happens all positions listed on a requisition are noted as being "under recruitment" on the Vacancy Reports. Other departments have chosen to recruit for individual positions and if multiple candidates are selected, the departments then opens additional requisitions later in the process. Both are viable recruitment strategies, however only the first strategy will result in all positions being listed as under recruitment.
