RE: Response to Call to the Public Aaron

Ms. Leshar,

The Secretary of State requires the Counties to enter the estimated number of ballots remaining to be processed beginning the Wednesday after the election. November 6 was the first day Pima County reported the ballots to be processed. The numbers reported are an estimate from the Recorder and Elections offices. The report shows ballots already tabulated. The ballots already processed are pulled from the results uploaded to the SOS database. The ballots already tabulated are a real number and not an estimate. All other columns are estimates. The ballots already tabulated increase with each results upload.

The ballots already tabulated correlate with the summary results reports that we post on our website. The first pages of the summary reports are attached. I have also attached a ballot analysis that resembles Mrs. Aaron's report with a column showing the results from the unofficial results reports.

The ballot analysis contains two rows for November 8. The first November 8 entry reflects ballots remaining 81,172. The entry is incorrect. The individual entering the numbers into the SOS database accidentally entered the total cards processed instead of the total ballots processed. The total number of cards processed during the first upload was 30,867. The total number of ballots processed was 15,492. I caught the error immediately, and it was corrected with the last upload of the day. The number of ballots remaining in elections increased by the difference of the 30,687 and the additional ballots tabulated.

Mrs. Aaron is trying to determine the total number of ballots cast by adding the estimated total number of uncounted ballots to the ballots already tabulated. It is impossible to determine the total ballots cast using the SOS's report because the estimated number of early ballots left to process and the total number of provisional ballots left to process decreases based on whether the Recorder accepts or rejects a ballot. There is no discrepancy in the numbers reported.

Let me know if you have any questions.

² This number is an estimate of how many early ballots have not been signature or otherwise verified and are therefore not ready for tabulation. It is important to note that not all ballots will pass this review. Those that do not, will not be tabulated.

³ This number is an estimate of how many provisional ballots are waiting for verification. It includes any provisional ballot (including conditional provisional) that has not been verified and is not ready for tabulation. It is important to note that this number is counted as a separate value and not included in Column 2 (Estimated number of early ballots left to process). Not all conditional ballots will qualify for tabulation. For more information on provisional and conditional provisional ballots see page 188-189 of the 2023 Elections Procedures Manual and Arizona Revised Statute 16-579.

Ballot Progress

Elections do not end on Election Day. It takes time to ensure all eligible votes are counted.

On Election night or beginning the day following the election, counties shall report the number of early ballots that were returned on Election Day and provide an update on the number of ballots that are still being processed and tabulated. These are only estimates and are subject to change as the tabulation process continues. A.R.S. § 16-551 (D).

If a field is left blank, the value either has not yet been reported or updated.

⁴ This number is an estimate of all verified ballots, regardless of category (early, provisional, conditional provisional, etc.) that are ready for tabulation, but have not yet been tabulated.

⁵ This number is the total of the values in columns 2, 3 and 4 and represents an estimate of the potential number of ballots that could qualify for tabulation. Please keep in mind that some ballots from columns 2 and 3 will not be tabulated if they fail to pass the verification process.

⁶ This number is an estimation of how much work remains to be done for an election. It is calculated by this formula: Percentage Complete = (Ballots Already Tabulated / (Uncounted Ballots + Ballots Already Tabulated))*100.
