Subject: Supplemental Public Comment / Additional Material for April 21, 2026 BOS Meeting – Sheriff Nanos’ 22-Page Report (File ID 20101)

Dear Ms. Millan,

I request that any personal identifiers be redacted or sealed when this comment is entered into the public record due to safety concerns related to the high-stakes Nancy Guthrie case. Streamers and online commentators covering these proceedings have been attracting unknown and potentially unstable individuals, which increases risk for anyone whose personal information becomes publicly associated with this topic. I therefore ask that my identity and contact information remain protected to the fullest extent possible while still allowing the substance of the comment to be part of the official record.

Thank you for your email and for previously forwarding my April 13, 2026 formal complaint as Board correspondence.

Yes, please add the new supplemental public comment [below] as additional material under the Call to the Public section for today’s

April 21, 2026 Board of Supervisors meeting (and ensure me with a follow up email that it is entered into the official minutes/public record).

This supplements my prior submission and directly addresses Sheriff Nanos' 22-page sworn report submitted yesterday.

(Note: media/publishing tools now return sanitized/zero results for searches on “NANOS,” but some of the attached archival newspaper articles and Arizona Republic reporting from March–April 2026, based on the 93-page El Paso PD internal affairs records, provide the contemporaneous public record.)

Thank you for your assistance in ensuring full transparency.

Best regards,
A Concerned Citizen

The Board has a duty to protect both public safety and constitutional rights. I strongly urge you to reallocate focus and resources: reduce unnecessary law enforcement show of force at public meetings/public easements and streets where no threat exists, and instead prioritize full transparency and aggressive use of all available tools to bring Nancy Guthrie home safely. Taxpayers deserve better than wasted resources on manufactured controversies while a vulnerable citizen remains missing.

Dear Members of the Pima County Board of Supervisors,
I respectfully submit this supplemental public comment regarding Sheriff Chris Nanos' 22-page sworn report submitted today. This builds on my April 13, 2026 formal complaint and focuses on transparency, accountability, and the urgent need to locate Nancy Guthrie.

Public Comment –

Sheriff Nanos’ Sworn Report Pursuant to A.R.S. §11-253(A) (File ID 20101)

I have reviewed the 22-page sworn report submitted by Sheriff Nanos on April 21, 2026.

While I appreciate the response to the Board’s request, the section addressing his El Paso Police Department employment (1976–1982) contains several material discrepancies and omissions when compared to contemporaneous 1982 El Paso newspaper articles (Times and Herald-Post) and El Paso PD records as reported by The Arizona Republic in March–April 2026 (based on 93 pages of internal affairs records and history card).

Specific discrepancies include:

Rank upon resignation: The report states he held the rank of corporal. However, 1982 El Paso Herald-Post and Times articles, as well as El Paso PD records reviewed in 2026, consistently list him as a patrol officer / police officer / patrolman.

No promotion to corporal (or detective) is documented in those records. (See May 20, 1976 El Paso Times article confirming he began as one of the department’s youngest rookies in the Juvenile Division.)

Description of resignation: The report frames his August 1982 departure as a voluntary resignation to avoid a single 3-day suspension over a minor “towing dispute” with a supervisor. Records show he resigned in lieu of termination after a five-member disciplinary board voted unanimously in early August 1982 to terminate him for “insubordination and consistent inefficiency.”

Complete omission of the most serious incident: The report makes no mention whatsoever of the March 22, 1982 incident involving C. Urias (aggravated robbery suspect). This incident resulted in Nanos’ immediate indefinite suspension without pay the same night, a felony assault complaint filed by Urias from the hospital (where he was treated in the ICU after being kicked in the legs and struck in the head with a flashlight while handcuffed -unconscious when Urias went to ICU), and ultimately a 15-day suspension — by far the longest and most serious of his El Paso career.

Disciplinary history: The report acknowledges only “various disciplinary actions” with “little specific recollection” after 40+ years and downplays the total.

El Paso PD records document 8 separate suspensions between 1979–1982 totaling approximately 32–37 days without pay, including negligent firearm handling, off-duty gambling, violation of rules/false sworn statements to Internal Affairs, verbal abuse/threats toward civilians, insubordination, inefficiency, and habitual tardiness.

Consistency with prior sworn testimony: In his December 11, 2025 deposition, Nanos answered “no” when asked under oath if he had ever been suspended as a law enforcement officer. The report offers an after-the-fact explanation, but this remains inconsistent with the documented El Paso record.

These are not minor details — they go to the heart of the record the Board specifically requested.

I respectfully request that the Board of Supervisors:

- Formally acknowledge receipt of the report and enter these noted discrepancies into the official meeting minutes.
- Immediately post the full unredacted 22-page report on the Pima County website / Legistar for public review.
- Issue a public records request to El Paso PD for the complete 93-page Internal Affairs file and disciplinary history card for independent verification.
- Refer the report and the prior deposition testimony to outside counsel for review of completeness and candor.
- Require a supplemental sworn response from Sheriff Nanos that directly addresses the specific gaps identified above.
- Schedule a dedicated work session (prior to or at the May 12 meeting) for line-by-line review with legal counsel.

Accountability and transparency must apply to the full public record — including the complete vetting process by Pima County HR, prior administrations, and media that reviewed these same documents over his 40+ year career in Arizona law enforcement. I urge the Board to pursue full verification so the public record is accurate and complete.

Thank you for your service and for ensuring these matters receive proper attention.

EP police officer suspended

A police officer who was relieved of duty when a robbery suspect he arrested wound up in the hospital was given a 15-day suspension Wednesday in connection with the incident.

Patrolman Chris Nanos, 26, a six-year police veteran, was relieved of duty without pay several hours after the March 22 incident that sent Carlos Urias, 34, to Thomason General Hospital with head injuries. Nanos' suspension is retroactive to that day, and he will return to work this weekend or Monday, Deputy Chief Al Castro said.

The penalty was handed down by a five-man administrative review board chaired by Chief of Police Bill Rodriguez.

Castro said the penalty indicated the board found wrongdoing by Nanos, but he would not defend the allegations because Nanos has 30 days to appeal the decision.

Suspensions generally range from one to 90 days, Castro said. Nanos had faced the possibility of dismissal.

Urias does not want to plead criminal charges, Castro said.

Urias and two others were suspected in the armed robbery of a Circle K convenience store at 4804 Doniphan when they were stopped by police several blocks from the store. Urias is now in county jail on a $5,000 bond pending charges of aggravated robbery.

Police Chief William Rodriguez said today that if suspected robber Carlos Castillo Urias, 34, goes through with his declared intention of filing assault charges against a policeman, it will be up to the district attorney's office to accept or decline prosecution of suspended Officer Chris Nanos.

"We have a complaint, in the form of a police report, and Internal Affairs is conducting an investigation. If the man files formal charges and the DA accepts, we will arrest Nanos if that's what they want," he said.

Police interviewed Urias Tuesday at Thomason General Hospital where he is recovering from a head

Charges have been filed with police by the victim of an alleged police assault that resulted in the Monday suspension of patrolman Chris Nanos.

Carlos C. Urias, 34, of Juarez, who is charged in connection with the aggravated robbery of an Upper Valley convenience store before the incident, filed the complaint from the intensive care unit of Thomson General Hospital.

Urias told Robbery Detective Ed Uribe he was cussed at, kicked in the legs and struck in the head by a police officer after he and two others were stopped in the 3500 block of Doniphan at 12:30 a.m. Monday.

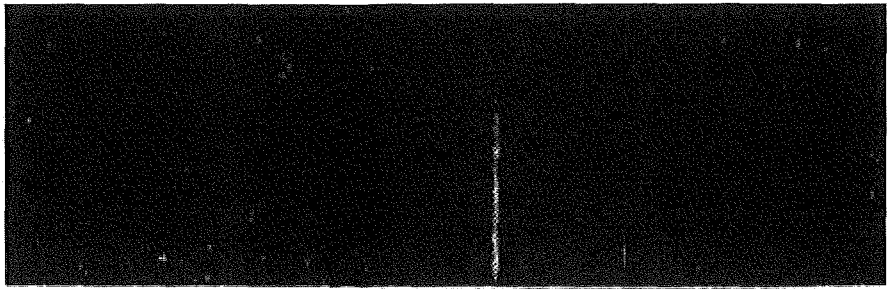

The report, which listed the charge as felony aggravated assault, did not name an officer, but described the suspect as a white man, age 25 to 28, short with a slender build, a thin mustache and wearing a police uniform.

Urias, who is charged with robbery and is in custody on a $100,000 bond, said he wanted to press charges against the officer because he is unsure of the extent of his injuries and does not know how he will pay his hospital bill, said.

He was listed in stable condition in the hospital Tuesday night.

Urias, Francisco Olegari, 34, of 1000 Road, and Antonio Castillo, 712 Doniphan, were stopped by officer John Driscoll after a robbery of the Circle K convenience store on Doniphan, in which $150 was taken. Driscoll and other officers, including Nanos, were called to the scene a minute later, Driscoll said.

According to Uribe, he and his companions were stopped by police officers who ordered them out of their car at gunpoint. Uribe said the officer then "started cussing them out," and then "began cursing (Urias) several times about the robbery." Uribe reported Urias' legs were Police officials today suspended an officer from duty, after a robbery suspect was hospitalized with a head injury suffered when he allegedly resisted arrest.

The suspect, Carlos Castillo Urias, 34, of Canutillo, was described in serious but not critical condition by a Thomason General Hospital spokesman.

Deputy Police Chief Al Castro said Officer Chris Nanos was relieved of duty without pay, for an indefinite period pending results of a criminal investigation.

He would not reveal details, but police sources said Urias was apparently struck with a flashlight.

He and two other men were charged with robbing the Circle K at 4804 Doniphan Drive just after midnight today. A clerk told police two men with a knife and a screwdriver threw him on the floor and one slashed his chest with the knife, inflicting a minor wound. Grand jury clears officer

The 34th District grand jury cleared El Paso police officer Chris Nanos of allegations that he used excessive force in dealing with a robbery suspect earlier this year.

Carlos Urias, a suspect in the March 22 robbery of an Upper Valley convenience store, filed an assault complaint against Nanos, claiming Nanos kicked and struck him in the head.

Nanos received a 15-day suspension in connection with the incident, which sent Urias to the intensive care unit of Thomason General Hospital.

Nanos was no-billed after he testified before the grand jury.

Urias was given a chance to present his side of the story. But Urias' attorney refused to allow him to speak to the grand jury which then relied on a statement he gave to police investigators while in the hospital.

The City of El Paso will pay $471.5 million in a rate increase approved by the Southwestern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Regulation Board. The board Thursday recommended a 10 percent increase to the City Council for the rate hike. The Utilities Commission will also vote on the rate hike.

As an intervenor, the city will call witnesses and present evidence at the PUC's hearing on the rate hike.

The regulation board will report to the City Council. The board also recommended pre-hearings on the rate hike at public meetings of the board. Both meetings are scheduled for next week.

The city could sue the board for a rate hike, but if it is approved, the city will have to pay the rate hike. The city could sue the board for a rate hike, but if it is approved, the city will have to pay the rate hike.

After the parade, there will be a loyalty ceremony inside the center, and trophy winners for the best parade participants will be announced at 3 p.m.

Arizona Gov. Bruce Rabbitt and Tucson Mayor Lewis C. Fry have signed proclamations promoting Loyalty Day.

Deputies' routine check leads to murder suspect

By DAVID L. TEIBEL
Citizen Staff Writer

A routine stakeout this morning for a felony drunken-driving suspect didn't bring an arrest in that case but netted sheriff's deputies a man wanted in Phoenix on a murder charge, the officers said.

Mario Luciano Duarte, 40, was arrested when detective George White, who had been tracking Duarte for two years, spotted him leaving a South Side home.

White said he, Detective Sgt. Robert Mayer and Deputy Christopher Nanos followed Duarte to a roofing company near North Eighth Avenue and West Sahuaro Street.

The detectives said Duarte had been named in a Maricopa County warrant charging him with first-degree murder in the stabbing death of a 17-year-old boy in October 1984.

White said the boy had been stabbed during an argument during a party at the youth's home.

At the roofing company, Duarte apparently was looking for a job and was waiting for the business to open, Mayer said. The officer said he and White walked up to the suspect with their guns drawn and badges held in front of the White said Duarte stepped from them as if he were to run, but was grabbed by the deputies, pushed against a wall and handcuffed.

Nanos Mayer said, had seen the unmarked car in case had tried to get away.

White said deputies also police officers thought they found Duarte about a year ago on the South Side, but after a "lengthy" foot chase, he got away.

Mayer and White said they had been in the Pueblo Garment looking for a drunken driver suspect when they decided to check past a house in the 2100 East Granito Vista on the South Side they might spot Duarte.

Mayer said they had gotten through the Pima County Sheriff's 88 CRIME anonymous line that Duarte was living in the area.

They saw him leave the area about 6:30 a.m. and follow for 30 minutes as he drove to the roofing company.

Duarte was being held in jail in the Pima County morning pending an initial appearance this afternoon.

70-year-old woman reports she was raped

A 70-year-old woman was raped as she walked near her home Friday night, sheriff's detectives said yesterday morning.

The woman was walking near her home near North Fairview Avenue and West Limberlost Road about 8:30 p.m. when she was attacked by a knife-wielding man. He picked her up and carried her to nearby bushes, said Christopher G. Nanos, a sheriff's sex crimes detective.

Nanos said the man threatened to kill the woman if she screamed or fought, raped her and walked away.

The woman reported the assault Saturday morning.

Deputies ask public's help in identifying nude body found near mission

By Hipolito R. Corella
The Arizona Daily Star

Pima County Sheriff's investigators are asking for help from the public in identifying a shooting victim, a man whose nude body was found near San Xavier Mission.

Investigators said two women living on the Tohono O'odham Indian Reservation spotted the body as they drove past shortly before 11 p.m. Monday.

The body was lying not more than 3 feet from the road in an area near Little Nogales Drive, across a dirt parking lot in front of the mission.

When the two women first drove past the body they thought the man had passed out. They continued with

Evidence supports murder c

HEATHER NEWMAN
Citizen Staff Writer

A Superior Court judge yesterday ruled there is enough evidence against two suspects in the death of 18 year-old Jennifer Ann Geuder to charge the men with first-degree murder and kidnapping.

Judge G. Thomas Meehan's decision came at the end of 3½ hours of testimony during a preliminary hearing by prosecution witnesses about the possible involvement of Jose Anthony Luna, 18, and Donald J. "Mark" Miller, 27, both of Tucson, in Geuder's killing. The hearing began last week and ended yesterday morning.

Geuder, of Tucson, was found by a jogger about 7 a.m. on June 13. She had been shot six times in the head and her hair had been cut or pulled out. She lay next to her car near East Glenn Street and North Houghton Road.

Geuder, a 1991 Sunnyside High School

honor graduate, was a classmate of Luna's and was the mother of his 13-month old child. Luna was married to another woman, by whom he has a year-old child, sheriff's officials have said.

David Arias, 19, a friend of Luna's, and Floyd Hamilton, 32, a roommate of Miller's, testified during the hearing.

Arias said Luna approached him for help in killing Geuder, apparently after she began asking for child support. Arias eventually refused, frightened, he said.

Hamilton testified that Luna, Miller and Geuder went to a drive-in movie the night of her death.

Hamilton said Miller confessed the killing to him, with Miller asserting that Luna had fired the opening shot, then ran, and Miller then emptied the rest of the clip into Geuder to be sure she was dead.

Miller said Geuder threatened to have her father kill Luna, Hamilton said, triggering the violence.

Arias testified last week. Hamilton ended his testimony yesterday, under fire from defense lawyers about his memory, which they called faulty.

The general content of testimony by two sheriff's homicide detectives was agreed upon by prosecution and defense attorneys in the interest of saving time.

Detective Sofia Rankin's testimony would have included the assertion that Geuder had been shot in the head six times, with only one penetrating into the brain and causing death, said Deputy County Attorney Rick Unklesbay. Investigators do not yet know the sequence of the shots, he said.

Testimony by Detective Chris Namos would have included information from a three-hour statement given by Miller, in which he allegedly admitted firing five of the six shots.

Defense lawyers argued there was insufficient evidence on the kidnapping charges because testimony showed Geuder went

Police still unable to identify body found near mission

By DAVID L. TEIBEL

Citizen Staff Writer

A man whose naked body was found near San Xavier Mission on Monday night was shot once in the head, a sheriff's homicide detective said yesterday.

Detective Christopher Nanos said an autopsy was completed about 1 p.m. yesterday.

The man's identity still had not been determined by late yesterday, Nanos added.

Publicity yesterday about the investigation resulted in some leads being telephoned to detectives concerning a possible identification. Detectives still were pursuing those leads later in the day.

No jewelry was found on the body and no clothing was found nearby, deputies said earlier.

Nanos speculated the man may have been stripped by his killer or killers in an effort to slow or prevent identification of the victim and hinder the murder investigation.

The body was found east of South Mission Road near West San Xavier Mission Road and South Little Nogales Drive, Nanos said.

Deputies said the body appeared to have been dumped where it was found, about three feet off San Xavier Road, during the night.

The body was discovered by two young women, who live on the Tohono O'odham reservation, as they were driving by on an errand, Nanos said.

He said they drove by once and thought the man was drunk and passed out. When they returned minutes later from their errand, Nanos said, they took a closer look, saw he was dead and called authorities.

not certain that he even knew what it meant," Murphy said.

Chris Nanos, a homicide detective for the Pima County Sheriff's Department, said Francis complained to courthouse officials about Magee and appeared to be desperate to attend school elsewhere.

"He didn't want to go to the middle school . . . but I don't think it was the school itself that caused the problem," Nanos said.

He also ruled out child abuse. "Francis seemed to be a normal child. He had posters of Teen-age (Mutant) Ninja Turtles on his bedroom wall and marbles in his desk" and wasn't listening to music with disturbing lyrics, Nanos said.

While his peers were tuning into rap radio stations, Francis preferred the sounds of big band music. Shortly before his death, he brought a Benny Goodman tape to a school music class.

Cochelle Dubs, principal at Magee, 8300 E. Speedway Blvd., said: "Francis was like a little adult. He was mature-acting . . . and had a history of being teased."

On the day after the seventh-grader skipped classes, he told school counselors that he was being taunted and harassed by other pupils. After that, Dubs said, teachers and counselors checked on him daily but Francis had no more complaints.

While Magee's faculty and pupils feel sympathy for the family's loss, Dubs insisted that the school should not in any way be singled out as responsible for the suicide.

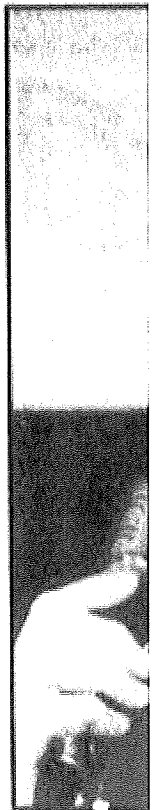

Nevertheless, the school was racked with grief. Since Friday, pupils have been meeting with Tucson Unified School District counselors to discuss suicide, death and grieving, Dubs said.

Some attended memorial services. And earlier this week, Peter Murphy, Francis' older brother, spoke to the student body.

"The children who had teased Francis had a whole lot of guilt," Dubs said. "Peter helped us with the healing. He told the kids that the suicide was not their fault."

Peter Murphy, a 20-year-old lance corporal in the U.S. Marines, had also attended Magee.

2015–Present: Sheriff Role

From 2015 onward, attached and related media almost always refer to him by his leadership title.

- 2015–2020: Coverage of appointment as Sheriff (August 2015), loss in 2016 election, and 2020 election win; referred to as Chief Deputy Nanos becoming Sheriff or incoming Sheriff.

- 2021–2025: Routine coverage as Pima County Sheriff / elected Sheriff on budget, operations, and cases.

- 2026 (Nancy Guthrie case and scrutiny): National and local coverage as Pima County Sheriff, with retrospective references to his 1976 start as a rookie/patrol officer in El Paso and rise through PCSO ranks. Key 2026 reporting (Arizona Republic series in March–April) directly references the 1982 attached articles and El Paso records, detailing his time as a patrol officer with eight suspensions before resigning in lieu of termination. April 21, 2026 coverage addresses his 22-page report to the Board of Supervisors, noting omissions and discrepancies with the 1982 incidents.

The attached 1976 and 1982 articles remain the primary contemporaneous sources for his early career, consistently showing him as a patrol officer. Later attached clippings (1986–2014) show his progression through detective, sergeant, lieutenant, captain, and chief deputy roles in Pima County. All 2026 coverage identifies him as Sheriff while revisiting the early El Paso patrol officer period.

Critical Gap: Advanced Search Tools for Nancy Guthrie

While reviewing Sheriff Nanos’ report and the attached media, I urge the Board and Sheriff’s Office to immediately deploy every available mapping, satellite, and aerial tool to help bring Nancy Guthrie home safely. These technologies were available from February 1, 2026 (day one of her disappearance) and remain fully usable today:

Satellite & Imagery Tools (free/public or LE-accessible):

FIRMS

Google Earth Pro + Historical Imagery slider

USGS EarthExplorer & Historic Aerials (NETRonline)

Sentinel Hub / Copernicus Browser (Sentinel-1 SAR & Sentinel-2)

Esri World Imagery Wayback

NASA Worldview

Pima County GIS / Pictometry oblique aerial photos (best for seeing exterior details like cameras at 5820 N Camino Escalante)

Planet Labs, Maxar, Capella Space (SAR), and other commercial high-res options

Flyover / Aerial Tools (drones, helicopters, fixed-wing):

Law enforcement drones with thermal/FLIR and Bluetooth/Wi-Fi signal sniffing (e.g., Parsons BlueFly for pacemaker detection – already reportedly used)

Sheriff/FBI helicopters with EO/IR gimbals

Fixed-wing surveillance aircraft

LiDAR, multispectral, and ground-penetrating radar where appropriate

Street-Level & Property-Specific Tools:

Google Street View historical dates (clock icon)

Mapillary and KartaView (crowdsourced)

Pima County Pictometry for oblique views of the property

These tools can detect ground disturbance, vehicle tracks, heat signatures, structural changes, or hidden objects in the desert/mountain terrain around Tucson. Many allow historical comparison (pre- and post-February 1, 2026). I respectfully ask the Board to direct the Sheriff's Office and coordinate with the FBI to task any remaining high-resolution satellite passes, SAR imagery, or additional drone/helicopter flights over likely search radii if not already maximized.

I must also address a serious misallocation of public attention and taxpayer resources that is occurring in real time.

While the Board of Supervisors, Sheriff's Office, and local media devote extensive time, staff hours, and public airtime to dissecting Sheriff Nanos' 22-page report, disciplinary history, and related proceedings — including live-streaming and platforming online commentators and streamers during official meetings — the same level of urgency and transparency is not being extended to the ongoing search for Nancy Guthrie.

Taxpayer-funded meetings and public proceedings are being used to amplify this controversy far more visibly than any substantive, non-sensitive updates on the Guthrie investigation itself.

This is unacceptable.

The public is left in the dark on basic, non-sensitive aspects of the case (search methodologies, tool deployment status, or progress in likely areas) while streamers and commentators receive disproportionate platform and attention.

Our tax dollars and elected officials' time should prioritize public safety — the core mission of the Sheriff's Office and the Board — by ensuring Nancy Guthrie is found and by providing the community with timely, appropriate information that does not compromise the investigation. The current imbalance sends the wrong message: that internal political accountability matters more than bringing an 84-year-old woman home to her family.

I firmly urge the Board to redirect focus and resources immediately.

Release all non-sensitive information on the Guthrie case, confirm the full utilization of every satellite, drone, thermal, SAR, and historical imagery tool available, and treat the search for Nancy with the same public intensity now being given to the report controversy. Public safety cannot wait.

Nancy Guthrie deserves every technological advantage available.

Full transparency on the deployment of these tools would greatly reassure the public.

Thank you for your service and for ensuring these matters — both the sworn report and the ongoing search for Nancy — receive rigorous, transparent attention.

Finally, I must address the troubling misuse of taxpayer resources that has become visible during these proceedings.

Significant law enforcement presence has been deployed at Board of Supervisors meetings and related public events, ostensibly to monitor online streamers and commentators.

Yet none of the content from these streamers appears to constitute a credible threat to public safety or the community. Back off.

This heavy-handed approach stands in stark contrast to the relative lack of transparent, actionable public updates regarding the search for Nancy Guthrie.

Our tax dollars are funding law enforcement overtime, staffing, and security measures that prioritize policing speech and commentary over the core mission of ensuring public safety — particularly the urgent need to locate an 84-year-old missing woman.

If the same level of resources and attention were applied to maximizing satellite imagery, drone thermal sweeps, historical aerial analysis, and non-sensitive case disclosures in the Guthrie investigation, the community would be far better served.

This situation raises serious First Amendment concerns.

When law enforcement resources are used to create a potentially perceived intimidating presence around lawful public commentary and streaming of official meetings and streets/easements, it chills protected speech and suggests selective enforcement.

I, for one, would never willingly provide my identification in such an environment, as it risks turning legitimate civic participation into a monitored activity.

The Board has a duty to protect both public safety and constitutional rights.

I strongly urge you to reallocate focus and resources: reduce unnecessary law enforcement show of force at public meetings/[public easements and streets where no threat exists as proven on those live streams, and instead prioritize full transparency and aggressive use of all available tools to bring Nancy Guthrie home safely. Taxpayers deserve better than wasted resources on manufactured controversies while a vulnerable citizen remains missing.

Again- Public safety must come first in an unbiased manner.

Accountability must be balanced.

Nancy Guthrie's family and the community are watching. The nation is watching even internationally.

Hi,
same request for redactions when made public:

Dear Ms. Millan,

I request that any personal identifiers be redacted or sealed when comment is entered into the public record due to safety concerns related to the high-stakes Nancy Guthrie case. Streamers and on-air commentators covering these proceedings have been attracting unknown and potentially unstable individuals, which increases risk for anyone whose personal information becomes publicly associated with this topic. I therefore ask that my identity and contact information remain protected to the fullest extent possible while still allowing the substance of the comment to be part of the official record.

Links in case you did not see them or were lost in an attachment to recent BOS meeting.

It shows media evidence to NANOS topic, not official record keeping files.

While media articles and El Paso Police Department records from 1976–1982 consistently described Chris Nanos as a patrol officer or patrolman, Nanos himself listed his position as “corporal patrolman – step 7” on his 1984 Pima County employment application, and his attorney has confirmed he resigned in 1982 at the rank of Corporal. In many police departments of that era — including El Paso PD — “Corporal” was typically a senior patrol / lead-officer designation tied to a higher pay step and some additional responsibilities within the patrol division, rather than a full supervisory command role like Sergeant. The difference is therefore more semantic than substantive.

The single best document to settle the question once and for all is:

Nanos’ official El Paso Police Department personnel/separation file from 1982, specifically:

- His resignation or separation paperwork (the form accepted by the Chief that lists his exact rank/title at the time he left).
- His final payroll or personnel action record showing rank and “step 7”.
- Any promotion/step~pay-increase orders or performance evaluations that document when (and why) he was designated Corporal.

If those full 1982 El Paso PD records are made public, they would end any remaining debate about whether Corporal was purely a pay/step title or carried genuine supervisory authority.

- Vote to release more of Nanos’ full Pima County personnel file.

- Order an independent third-party administrative review of the original 1984 vetting (fast and cheap — you've done this before).
- Refer any potential policy or ethics issues to the County Attorney or outside counsel.

This approach is far more efficient than lawsuits, recalls, or new investigations. It uses existing statutory authority and keeps everything in the public record.

These are the specific documents that will settle whether HR and the Sheriff's Office (under the BOS oversight structure at the time) did proper vetting when Nanos was hired in 1984 as a corrections officer and later promoted to deputy:

Record

Why It Matters

1984 Background Investigation Report(s)
(noted as “satisfactory completion” in Jan 1984 and Sept 1984)

Directly shows what reference criminal checks, and El Paso inquiries HR actually performed

Nanos’ complete 1984 Employment Application package (including the page where he wrote “corporal patrolman – step 7”)

Proves exactly what he did at the time

Any correspondence or reference-check responses between Pima County HR and El Paso PD/Chief

Shows whether El Paso did the suspensions or “resigned in lieu of termination”

Internal HR hiring memos or decision notes from 1984

Documents the final vetting decision and any red flags were (or weren’t) addressed

Nanos’ current defense (from the April 22 response) explicitly states he was forthcoming on his El Paso record, passed Arizona’s required law-enforcement vetting standards, and that the background check was satisfactory. The above records will either confirm that or show gaps.

We, the people, request the BOS request the records of the above specific records.

We the people are exhausted by the dredging up of decades-old personnel history at a moment when every available resource should be laser-focused on a high-stakes, active investigation.

Where is Nancy Guthrie?

You have aerial tools, advanced technology, and substantial resources — please exhaust every one of them immediately to bring Nancy home safely to her family.

At the same time, we urge you to stop the public pile-on against Sheriff Nanos.

The optics of this potential institutional disloyalty during an ongoing critical incident are deeply concerning and undermine public trust.

Focus on the mission: find Nancy.

Everything else can wait.

Thank you.

Ohh....

I stand firm: Sheriff Chris Nanos was the G.O.A.T. for Pima County for many decades until this situation turned him into the scapegoat.

Much of this controversy should have been handled quietly through back channels instead of becoming a public spectacle during a high-stake case.

Let's be real — how many of “We the People” actually show up when it's not already on the agenda? Trust must be built first before meaningful public participation can happen.

Right now, the chaos circus unfolding publicly could likely legally be used against the Board of Supervisors and HR by Sheriff Nanos due to intense kaleidoscope legal lenses.

It is wrong to watch grown adults create this kind of public display, only for Nanos to then absorb the heat and hate for his silence.

I do not blame him. His lawyers are likely sanitizing every response to get this settled efficiently, yet it will not truly settle until the same public scrutiny is applied to AZPOST, Pima County HR, and the Board of Supervisors.

You certified him, promoted him, and presented him as a hero under Pima County standards. The media also painted him that way.

Why dredge up 40-year-old El Paso history now like you all just did— during an active, high-stakes search for Nancy Guthrie?

Focus on bringing Nancy home.

Leave Nanos alone publicly.

The optics of this potential institutional disloyalty are damaging public trust.
